

National RE Networks Ambassador - part time
RE Today Services - Birmingham, West Midlands
£250.00 per day / 1 day per week (approx.)

RE Today Services and NATRE are running a 2-year project to build a national support infrastructure for Religious Education.

Key to this project is a part-time contract to take the national lead – helping shape the project, identify up to 10 regional Ambassadors and then manage the project, budget, deliverables and reporting.

Key Aim: This is the national lead role for development, encouragement and co-ordination of regional RE support structures.

Key Impact Measure: grow the number of school teachers engaged in local RE groups (inc. NATRE affiliated Local Groups and LTLRE Hubs) – encourage and equip them in their classroom practice and connect to high quality local, regional and national RE resources and supported through face-to-face contact.

Contract: 48 days/year (approx 1 day/week) from October 2018 - August 2020

Location: working from home, so any location in England considered. The role will require travel throughout the country, including regular visits to our company offices in Birmingham.

Application Closing Date: 12th October 2018

Contract Aims:

- Grow membership of major RE organisations (eg NATRE, LTLRE etc)
- Deliver minimum 2 x 1 day training/development conferences for the 10 x Regional RE Champions
- Share information e.g national developments, funded project opportunities and best practice support across the Regions
- Encourage, promote, attend and evaluate Regional conferences
- Represent local/grass-roots RE in national forums and with funders
- Co-ordinate nationally across major RE organisations (inc NATRE, LTLRE, AREIAC, NASACRE, TRS-UK, AULRE, REC etc)
- Work with influencers nationally and with at local and national government

Key Experience:

- Proven track record in RE leadership applied at a local and/or national level, including in establishing and supporting teacher networks
- Proven track record in effective work/co-ordination across multiple RE major organisations, including establishing and maintaining productive relationships with stakeholders at all levels
- Deep subject knowledge and excellent track record of classroom RE
- A detailed understanding of the needs teachers of religious education and the issues, challenges and opportunities they face
- A clear understanding of the current educational policy landscape
- Passion for RE and teaching and an ability to motivate and enthuse
- Effective oral and written communication and co-ordination skills at regional/national level
- Staff, volunteer, budget and project management experience
- Grant application and management experience

To apply please send CV to Mike McMaster: mike@retoday.org.uk

www.retoday.org.uk

www.natre.org.uk

Job Types: Contract, Part-time

Rate: £250.00 /day